MEDODO COIN

SUMMARY

A Storytelling Fan Ecosystem is Needed

We need a fandom crypto ecosystem that combines the storytelling appeal of meme coins with organic engagement. This ecosystem should connect potential customers for the community's growth and offer fair compensation based on fan contributions. It should encourage fans to create, share, and enjoy various content, fostering a vibrant and dynamic community.

Empowering a Communication Infrastructure for a Collective of Free Spirits

Artists and fans in culture, art, and entertainment form a unique collective of creative and independent individuals. They need a tailored communication infrastructure, both online and offline, that caters to the distinct nature of their fan communities. This infrastructure should facilitate meaningful interactions among these free spirits.

Expanding Independent Communication Infrastructure for Both Online and Offline Experiences

This whitepaper proposes ways to enhance voluntary participation in fandom communities by incorporating meme functionalities within the crypto ecosystem. It also outlines strategies for expanding independent online and offline communication infrastructure to better support these vibrant fan communities.

THE MEDODO COIN STORY

Our fandom is like A DoDo Bird sending Unconditional love.

The combination of MEME and Dodo Bird forms a unique symbol.

✓ The fearless and curious DoDoBird would follow people around, finding them fascinating. Similarly, fans send unconditional love to their favorite artists, just like the DoDo Bird.

✓ We've chosen the DoDo Bird as a symbol of this unwavering love from countless fans to artists, represented by memes.

✓ The DoDoBird went extinct in 1861 due to its lack of predators and curious nature. Similarly, fandom communities thrive, or decline based on the popularity of their beloved artists. However, just as the DoDoBird might be imagined to return, fandom communities often experience a resurgence, regaining popularity over time.

2025

The biotech company Colossal Biosciences plans to save the DoDo Bird.

Project: 'de-extinct' the DoDo Bird using the power of science and technology.

Beth Shapiro, professor at the University of California, Santa Cruz (left), leading the DoDo Bird restoration project, and Ben Lamm, CEO of Colossal Bio Sciences (right) plans to use biotechnology to insert DoDo Bird genes into distant relatives such as pigeons for replication.

MeDoDo Coin evokes a new challenge for a fandom community that dreams of resurrection someday, coalescing countless artists and fans to come together for an aligned cause.

Will Alice in Wonderland meet the DoDo Bird again with its large beak and short wings?

Alice gave one candy each as a prize to the animals declaring that they all won the race.

Then the animals insisted that Alice should also receive a candy too. However, Alice had no candies left in her pocet, except for one single currant.

The DoDo Bird said to Alice, "Please accept this dignified currant," and all the animals cheered.

Could this be a symbol for a fandom artist community?

The novel "Alice's Adventures I Wonderland," published in 1865, included illustrations depicting the DoDo Bird handing a currant to Alice with its large beak and short wings.

MEDODO COIN

A Overview

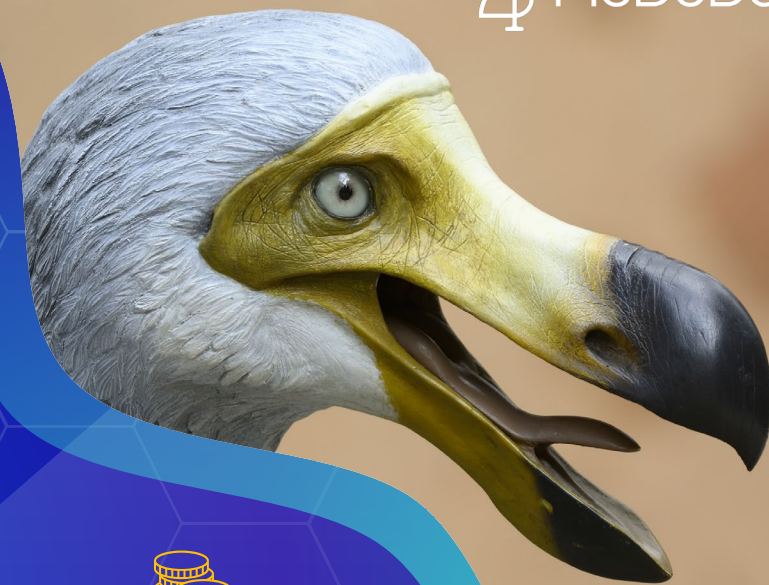

MeDoDo Coin is based on the BEP-20 standard. The total supply is set at 1.681 trillion, symbolizing the year of the DoDoBird's extinction. 80% of the total supply was burned on April 23, 2025, following the initial meme coin concept to sustain the crypto ecosystem. The MeDoDo Foundation hopes for a complete revival of the MeDoDo by 2030.

Fandom Community Donation Coin Role

Out of the initial 1.681 trillion coins, the fan community-exclusive donation coin evolves from a meme coin driven by interest to one centered around storytelling through gradual burning. It aims to protect endangered species, restore extinct animals, and consider the Earth's environment. This transition from interest to activism provides fans with an ideological principle and a material resource, enabling collective action.

Distribution Plan

The initial issuance price of MeDoDo Coin is set at $0.0002030. We plan to conduct a free airdrop of 1,681 coins to all members of the fandom community who wish to participate. Additionally, periodic free airdrops will continue based on voluntary participation in community activities and infrastructure development.

THE MEDODO COIN COMMUNITY

1.681T Coins

Activity within the Fandom Community

This involves creating additional value by reproducing, sharing, and consuming content within the fandom. Fans actively participate in activities such as performances and exhibitions organized by artists, generating further value for the community.

Activity Generates Added Value

Profits naturally arise from the voluntary participation of artists and fans. The concept of donation-added value is introduced, which extends beyond commercial gains, allowing profits to contribute to the development of the fandom community.

Burning of MeDoDo Coin Based on Usage

Valuable cryptocurrencies appreciate through burning based on their usage. A certain percentage of these burned coins are donated to the affiliated fandom community, encouraging active donation participation.

Owned by Artists and Fans

MeDoDo Coin is used within the fandom community for various purposes, such as purchasing concert tickets and making voluntary donations. The coins used are then burned, increasing the overall value of the cryptocurrency.

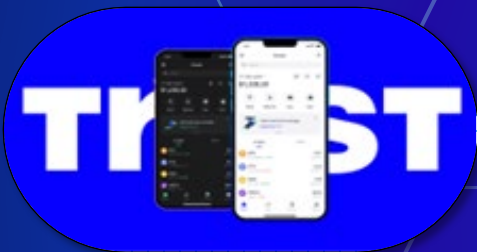

Personal Pride in Coin Donations

Fans can use the free airdropped coins within the community, contributing to its development and gaining personal pride from their involvement. Additionally, they benefit from the potential increase in the value of MeDoDo Coin, allowing for individual profit.
